Since her return, in 1884, she has sung in Boston churches, in Handel and Haydns oratorios, for Thomas orchestra and in opera companies east and west. She is a great favorite at Saratoga. She was one of the quartette selected to sing at the funeral of General U. S. Grant on Mt. McGregor, in 1885. She has not been singing much of late years, although her voice still retains its full power and tone. She has a large number of pupils, who come from all parts of the country. She devotes some portion of her time to teaching by private instruction.
